SUPPORT CENTER FOR LAID OFF EMPLOYEES OF GENERAL MOTORS SUPPLIERS NOW OPEN

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK – In response Oklahoma City's General Motors plant closure, Workforce Oklahoma established the Recruitment, Retraining and Re-employment Center at 3921 S.E. 29th Street in Del City. This location, which is now open for business, provides workers who have lost their jobs with information and services to help them transition into new jobs or careers.

A variety of services are available at no cost to customers. Information is available on job markets, training, re-employment, and unemployment insurance. The Center's Resource Room provides access to computers, copiers, and fax machines. Services offered include job search assistance, Career Readiness certification, and linkage to community service agencies. Qualifying individuals may also receive tuition assistance, individual employment plan development, career counseling, and training. Additional partners will be added in the future to assist with social services that may be needed.

The Recruitment, Retraining and Re-employment Center is housed in a former medical building owned by Mid-Del Technology Center. The Center can be recognized by the "R3 Center" banner hanging on the building. The Recruitment, Retraining and Re-employment Center can be contacted at (405) 671-8621. The center is open Monday through Friday 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.

Partners in this effort include Workforce Oklahoma, Oklahoma CareerTech, Oklahoma Employment Security Commission, and Oklahoma Department of Commerce.
